In Workday, job requisitions are connected to specific positions. Because of this relationship, you cannot recruit multiple positions on a regular job requisition. The Evergreen Job Requisition ("Evergreen") is a special job requisition that allows multiple job requisitions to be attached. The Evergreen allows candidates to apply once to be considered for multiple job requisitions.

Before starting the Initial Review process, all candidates on the Evergreen must be moved to the job requisition designated as the Primary Job Requisition ("Primary"). The following outlines the process to move candidates from the Evergreen to the Primary and to perform the Initial Review.

4. Qualifying questions for education and experience are included on the secondary questionnaire to assist with determining a candidate’s minimum qualifications.
